RUSH OF QUICKSAND ENTOMBS MEN IN IRON MINE NEAR ISHPERING

Officials Are Agreed That Only By a Miracle Could Any of the Trapped Miners Have Survived

Seven Bodies Already Recovered As They Were Washed Along by Water Which Rushed Through Communication Lateral to North Lake Mine

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 4.—(UP)—All hope of saving the 52 miners who were trapped in the Barnes-Hecker iron mine near here yesterday by a rush of quicksand, was abandoned today, mine officials feeling certain they have all perished.

Officials were agreed that only by a miracle could any of the trapped miners have survived the rush of mud and water when a section of swamp land, 200 feet by 380 feet, suddenly settled down upon them in the underground passages. Although they may have reached a dry pocket, officials declared there would be slight chance of saving them.

Seven bodies have already been recovered as they were washed along by water which rushed through a communication lateral to the North Lake mine.

Mine officials today were seeking everywhere for force pumps which are capable of lifting sand and water several hundred feet up the shaft.

Among those whose bodies were recovered were:

Captain William Tippet, underground superintendent and William Hill, county mine inspector.

Others identified were:

Thomas Kirby, Sr., Henry Hapala, John Luoma, Harvey Vepsola and William Huot.

The section of earth, which dropped upon the toiling miners, went down with a sucking thud that was heard for some distance. The water and mud rushed into the 1,060 foot shaft and into the laterals. The water filled the mine almost completely, pressure from above forcing it into all six levels of the mine.

Then water rose rapidly, so rapidly in fact, that the one man who escaped could scarcely keep above the rising level by climbing desperately to the top.

The water, which at one time after the cave-in came up to within 186 feet of the surface, had receded to 416 feet from the surface at 7 A. M. today, according to mine officials.

With one-third of the male population of the North Lake location caught in the wrecked mine, men, women and children, relatives of the miners, gathered about the shaft early today awaiting news of the fate of their loved ones. Hundreds stood about the open pit which was created by the cave-in as the curious from surrounding cities came rushing to the scene. Michigan state police have been ordered here to preserve order.

The fall of the earth came without warning. Those who saw it, say the section of the mine surface located about a quarter of a mile from the shaft, shook, quivered and then dropped more than 250 feet with a sucking thud. Mine officials declared they believed the collapse wrecked the first level 600 feet down and that the mud and water then rushed into the levels below, down to a depth of 1,600 feet.

Rutherford Wills, the only miner to escape the rush of water and quicksand, today gave a detailed story of his race with death to escape from the mine as the water rushed in from the gaping hole in the surface.

According to Tippet, the men were just having their lunch, having preferred to remain underground because of the cold, when the cave-in occurred.

"I was on the fifth level alone when I saw the rush of water into the shaft. The cage was above, having taken five men up who went to their homes nearby for dinner."

"I felt that something had gone wrong so I took a chance of being killed by the cage and started up the ladder. Mud and water poured down upon me and rose almost as rapidly as I was able to climb, but I finally made it to the top."

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 4.—The Barnes-Hecker mine disaster at Ishpeming, Mich., is almost identical with that which took the lives of 41 miners at Crosby, Minn., on the Cuyuna iron range, nearly three years ago.

In the Crosby disaster, a swamp broke through into the shaft of the Milford mine and the miners were trapped in the same manner as those at Ishpeming.

That was on February 5, 1924, and was almost a year before all the bodies of the miners were recovered.

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 4.—Officials in charge of Barnes-Hecker iron mine here, in which 52 miners, believed dead, are trapped, announced today they did not believe there was one chance in a million that the victims of yesterday's cave-in are alive. It was also announced that there was every indication it would take several days to pump the water and mud from the mine, so as to be able to bring the bodies to the surface. The mud and water rushed into the mine yesterday when a section of swamp land caved into the first level. Fifty-two miners were in the mine at the time. Seven bodies have been recovered. Forty of the victims are married and many have families.

According to S. R. Elliot, general superintendent of the Barnes-Hecker mine, a conference of mine superintendents and nine engineers from Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota has been called to meet here tomorrow. At this meeting the mining experts will offer advice and work out some method of rescuing the bodies of the victims.

Officials of the Barnes-Hecker mine today ordered blasting around the end of the crater, so as to get a solid foundation for the force pumps which will be used in pumping the mud and water from the mine. The pumps have been ordered and should arrive here within the next day or so, officials declared.

A check-up of the families of the victims of the cave-in was made today and it was revealed many are fatherless as the result of the disaster.

GASOLINE SELLS IN ST. PAUL TODAY AT 18c A GALLON

St. Paul, Nov. 4.—(UP)—Gasoline sold in St. Paul today for 18 cents a gallon, a drop of six cents from 10 days ago. Not all refining companies joined in the cut, however, for at some filling stations the price was unchanged from the 19.2 cents of yesterday. An independent company's reductions are forcing down the cost to the consumer.

QUEEN MARIE DEFENDS SELF FROM CRITICISMS

DEFENDS SAMUEL HILL AND LOUE FULLER AS HER FRIENDS

THEY WERE FRIENDS WHEN RUMANIA WAS ALMOST DOWN AND OUT

By JOHN MONTGOMERY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard Queen Marie's Special Train en route to Seattle, Nov. 4.—Marie of Rumania, having crossed the American continent silent in the face of hostile criticism, directed especially at the wealthy dreamer and the former ballet dancer who sponsored her tour, stood shoulder to shoulder with them today against all critics.

The queen has defended herself. She made a virtual defy in an address yesterday at the dedication of the Mary Hill museum along the Columbia river near Portland, its dedication being the ostensible purpose of her visit to America.

She stood figuratively with a hand each on the shoulder of Samuel Hill, millionaire son-in-law of the great railroad builder, and Loue Fuller, ballet dancer, whom she said "some might call lowly." She defended them as staunch friends who stood by her with real aid and comfort when Rumania was down and almost out during the war.

"Loue Fuller stood by me when I had my back to the wall," the queen said. "She is very dear to me."

The queen dedicated the curious, half completed structure, called "Hill's Folly," which he built in her honor as a place for her to stay on a projected visit that was interrupted by the war. It is intended now to be a permanent museum, containing many treasures of Rumanian art brought by the queen.

"As I stand here in this curious and impressive building," the queen said, "I'd like to explain why I came. There is much more than concrete in this structure. There is a dream built into it—a dream for today and especially for tomorrow."

"Samuel Hill is my friend. He not only is a dreamer, but a worker."

Aboard Queen Marie's Special Train in Washington, Nov. 4.—(UP)—Queen Marie today inspected the saw mills at Longview and entrained for Seattle, where she arrives this afternoon. Her majesty received another whole hearted reception at Portland, Ore., last night. Portland turned out completely, it seemed, to greet Rumania's queen.

Her majesty attended the horse show at night and did not return to her private car until nearly midnight.

It was said that the Portland reception was one of the warmest ever extended any visitor. The queen seemed happy but a bit tired. A 125-mile motor trip from Mary Hill, Wash., served to tax her powers. She had spoken at the dedication ceremonies of the Mary Hill museum of fine arts in the morning. This was her official mission to America.

TESTIFIES SHE HEARD FOUR SHOTS FIRED

MRS. ANNA HOAG IS WITNESS IN HALL-MILLS MURDER CASE

LIVED ON A FARM NEAR DE RUSSEY'S LANE, WHERE SLAYING OCCURRED

By PAUL R. WHITE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Anna Hoag, who lived on a farm near De Russey's lane, where the Rev. Edward Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were murdered four years ago, testified today that she heard four shots on the night of the murder.

Mrs. Hoag's testimony introduced new evidence in the state's case against Henry Stevens, who, with his brother, Willie, and sister, Mrs. Frances Hall, is on trial charged with the double murder.

During the testimony, Mrs. Hall sat near her counsel and between Mrs. Edwin Carpenter and Mrs. Sidney Carpenter, her cousins. Next to them sat Willie Stevens and on the other side Henry Stevens.

Rev. R. J. Pettit, who became pastor of Hall's church after the murder, testified. Trimly dressed, he spoke in the soft voice of a man of the cloth and conducted himself with great dignity.

He told the court that Ralph Gorsline, one of the state's star witnesses had long been a vestryman of the church and only a few months ago had been re-elected to that place.

Mrs. Hoag's testimony was the first decided surprise of the day. She followed the description of the firing she had heard with a statement that a year after the murder Henry Stevens, one of the defendants, came to her home and attempted to discuss the case with her.

Mrs. Hoag is an emphatic, though faded woman of middle age.

"Was your attention attracted by anything the night of the murder?" State Senator Simpson, special prosecutor, asked.

"Yes, by four shots,"

"What time was that?"

"About 10 o'clock."

"Oh, yes," said Simpson, "since the murder, Mrs. Hoag, had anyone of these defendants come to your house?"

"After repeated objections as to the relevancy, which were overruled, Mrs. Hoag identified Henry Stevens."

"In August of 1923, he came to my door and asked me to direct him to Raritan," she said.

"Then, out of a clear sky, he said wasn't there a tragedy around here? 'I ran into the house because I was frightened after telling him that I knew nothing about a tragedy.'"

"What did your visitor do then?" asked Simpson.

"He went and got a drink and then he crossed over toward the lane and nearly collapsed. Honestly, he nearly collapsed."

Throughout her story Mrs. Hoag kept referring to Stevens as having been "nervous" and "immaculate." Stevens sat without a change of expression.

"Did you hear one shot first, followed by three in succession?" she was asked.

Mrs. Hoag was vague on the point and the defense quickly jumped to previous testimony in which Mrs. Hoag said she was "very sure" she had heard three shots first and then one.

But Mrs. Hoag was sure Henry had called on her, her high pitched, squeaky voice was frequently raised in determined remarks such as "Well I know what I saw."

Ralph Gorsline was called. Gorsline said he was a vestryman of Hall's church at the time of the murder.

"Were you in DeRussey's lane the night Dr. Hall was slain?" asked Simpson.

"I was."

Gorsline said he had motored to London, Nov. 4.—(UP)—Roscoe Brunner, chairman of the world famous chemical firm of Brunner, Mond & Co., Ltd., and his wife, the former Ethel Houston, author, were found dead in a cottage belonging to their daughter the Princess Lelechtenstein, last night.

The couple were discovered by their chauffeur across the dining room table, Brunner with a bullet in his head and his wife shot through the body. One version of the report said Brunner had a pistol clamped in his hand, another said the weapon was found on the floor of the room.

The Princess Lelechtenstein was said to be on the continent.

PRINCE LEOPOLD WEDS PRINCESS ASTRID OF SWEDEN

CEREMONY PERFORMED IN THE THRONE ROOM OF THE ROYAL PALACE

PRINCESS IS A NIECE OF KING GUSTAVE OF SWEDEN

By OLE CAVLING (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Stockholm, Nov. 4.—Prince Leopold of Belgium, Duke of Brabant and heir to the Belgian throne, today was married to Princess Sophie Louise Thyra Astrid of Sweden, the niece of King Gustave. The ceremony was performed in the throne room of the royal palace before an assembly that included four kings and two queens.

Lord Mayor Carl Lindhagen of Stockholm, who performed the brief civil ceremony, annually for some years has submitted a bill to parliament demanding the dissolution of the monarchy. Replying to an interviewer, who inquired how he could bring himself to officiate at a royal wedding, Lindhagen replied:

"I have no hesitation in uniting two young folks who really love each other."

Leopold will not see Astrid's bobbed head after this evening until he meets her in Antwerp Sunday or Monday to escort her to Brussels, where a religious marriage ceremony will be consummated November 10. Tonight the royal bride and groom will depart, each to accompany members of their respective families to Antwerp, although today's ceremony legally made them man and wife.

A feature of tonight's wedding dinner for 200 guests will be reindeer steak from Lapland, which was placed on the menu as a typical Swedish dish.

King Gustave of Sweden, King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians, King Christian and Queen Alexandrine of Denmark and King Haakon of Norway, along with others of lesser royalty, witnessed the 4 P. M. wedding and were to participate in the evening's gayety. Five of Europe's reigning kings did not attend.

Despite snow in the streets and the cold, crowds gathered early to witness the movements of the illustrious visitors and their hosts.

It was announced today that Princess Astrid would remain a Protestant (Lutheran) although she would be free later, if she so desired, to adopt Leopold's Catholicism.

Within 200 feet of the crab apple tree and then parked his car.

"When was your first indication that anything was wrong?" asked Simpson.

"I heard some mumbling," replied the witness, a thin, sallow man. "Then I heard a shot," he went on hesitatingly.

"What else?" asked Simpson.

"I heard a woman scream. Then

VARE AND SMITH STORM CENTERS IN THE SESSION

HISTORIC SEATING BATTLE MAY OVERSHADOW NEWBERRY CASE

NEITHER MAN HAS SLIGHTEST IDEA OF FORFEITING HIS CLAIM TO A SEAT

By HERBERT LITTLE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 3.—Preparations for one of the greatest political tugs of war the senate has ever known were being made today.

One senate group aims to unseat William S. Vare and Frank Smith, senators-elect from Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Only failure of the two to present credentials can prevent a historic seating battle overshadowing the famous Newberry case, and neither man entertains the slightest idea of forfeiting his claim to a seat.

"Irregular republican" senators are seeking a loophole whereby seating of the two will be delayed pending investigation of their cases.

A vote on the question of disqualifying them as unfit to be United States senators would then be attempted. The constitution gives the senate the authority to determine the fitness of its members to sit.

Senate precedent holds that if proper election credentials are presented the elected men must be seated, and that any investigation must be conducted afterward, with a vote on unseating as the culmination of the proceeding. The motion to unseat Newberry lost by a close margin, but he resigned after a resolution characterized $195,000 as too heavy a primary campaign expenditure.

The plan to bar Vare, for whom about $600,000 was spent in a $3,000,000 primary campaign and Smith nominated with an expenditure of about $600,000, is believed to be based upon evidence unearthed by Senator Reed's expenditures investigation.

The anti-Smith and anti-Vare men are expected to contend nothing is necessary except to consider the Reed evidence and vote upon the fitness of the two men.

This strategy would eliminate a committee hearing to gather evidence. A two-thirds vote is needed for unseating.

Vare and Smith are scheduled to be seated in the 70th congress which in the ordinary course of events will meet in December, 1927.

REV. J. F. NORRIS FACES MURDER CHARGE SOON

Austin, Texas, Nov. 4.—(UP)—Trial of the Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church, on a charge of murdering Peter E. Chippis, wealthy lumberman, probably will be held in January, Judge James R. Hamilton of Travis county, announced yesterday.

On a change of venue Tuesday the case was transferred to Judge Hamilton's court from Tarrant county.

WIFE IS SHERIFF, HUSBAND TO SERVE AS DEPUTY

Jefferson, Wis., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Mrs. John C. Gruel, wife of the present republican sheriff, will wear the badge of that office for the next term while he serves as her deputy.

WETS AND DRYS BELIEVE IT TO BE ISSUE IN 1928

DRYS ARE ALREADY LAYING PLANS WITH THIS ISSUE IN MIND

WETS, TOO, FORESEE THAT PROHIBITION WILL BE FIGHTING ISSUE IN 1928

By CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 4.—Prohibition is destined, in the opinion of wets and drys here today, to become the dominant 1928 presidential campaign issue.

Drys are already laying plans with this issue in mind.

The National Temperance Council, the United Press learns, will convene here next month with the 1928 campaign, on a dry-wet basis, as its chief topic of discussion. This organization is a sort of super-organization embodying the Anti-Saloon League and all other dry groups.

Wets, too, foresee that prohibition will be the fighting issue of 1928.

Drys assert the Tuesday election results leave unaltered the strength they have had in congress hitherto, and that state referendums have not fundamentally altered the prohibition situation. But they see in Governor Al Smith's New York gubernatorial victory a sign that a wet is likely to be strongly listed as democratic presidential campaign timber.

Dry leaders foresee that President Coolidge, if he becomes a candidate, will be for the dry side.

These drys would welcome the candidacy of Smith, for, they say, it would deal the wets a terrible blow. They believe the solid democratic south would knife Smith as a wet since the south is admittedly dry.

One of the men in drydom's inner councils said today the Smith candidacy would tear the democratic party apart. The south would vote for a republican president rather than for a wet, he asserted.

Wayne B. Wheeler, head of the Anti-Saloon League here, contended the Tuesday outcome showed the drys won "in every state where they had a fighting chance except Massachusetts," that the wets got only "nine out of 35 senators elected," and "over 300 members of the house with dry records or pronouncements have been elected."

"The wet votes in these referenda and those votes for the election of nullification congressmen and senators challenge the drys to get busier than ever during the next two years," Wheeler said.

DAVIS LOSES HIS $5,000,000 LIBEL ACTION BROUGHT

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Jonathan M. Davis, former governor of Kansas, has lost his $5,000,000 libel suit filed against the Kansas City Journal Post it was revealed today.

Federal Judge John C. Pollock rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant and assessed the costs of the case against Davis.

The libel action was the result of stories published in the Journal Post giving the details of the alleged sale of pardons by Davis when he was governor.

Davis was tried and acquitted of charges of bribery in connection with the issuance of pardons and paroles to prisoners.

RUSH OF QUICKSAND ENTOMBS MEN IN IRON MINE NEAR ISHPEMING

Officials Are Agreed That Only By a Miracle Could Any of the Trapped Miners Have Survived

Seven Bodies Already Recovered As They Were Washed Along by Water Which Rushed Through Communication Lateral to North Lake Mine

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 4.—(UP)—All hope of saving the 52 miners who were trapped in the Barnes-Hecker iron mine near here yesterday by a rush of quicksand, was abandoned today, mine officials feeling certain they have all perished.

Officials were agreed that only by a miracle could any of the trapped miners have survived the rush of mud and water when a section of swamp land, 200 feet by 380 feet, suddenly settled down upon them in the underground passages. Although they may have reached a dry pocket, officials declared there would be slight chance of saving them.

"I was on the fifth level alone when I saw the rush of water into the shaft. The cage was above, having taken five men up who went to their homes nearby for dinner."

"I felt that something had gone wrong so I took a chance of being killed by the cage and started up the ladder. Mud and water poured down upon me and rose almost as rapidly as I was able to climb, but I finally made it to the top."

Lord Mayor Carl Lindhagen of Stockholm, who performed the brief civil ceremony, annually for some years has submitted a bill to parliament demanding the dissolution of the monarchy. Replying to an interviewer, who inquired how he could bring himself to officiate at a royal wedding, Lindhagen replied:

"I have no hesitation in uniting two young folks who really love each other."

Leopold will not see Astrid's bobbed head after this evening until he meets her in Antwerp Sunday or Monday to escort her to Brussels, where a religious marriage ceremony will be consummated November 10. Tonight the royal bride and groom will depart, each to accompany members of their respective families to Antwerp, although today's ceremony legally made them man and wife.

A feature of tonight's wedding dinner for 200 guests will be reindeer steak from Lapland, which was placed on the menu as a typical Swedish dish.

King Gustave of Sweden, King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians, King Christian and Queen Alexandrine of Denmark and King Haakon of Norway, along with others of lesser royalty, witnessed the 4 P. M. wedding and were to participate in the evening's gayety. Five of Europe's reigning kings did not attend.

Despite snow in the streets and the cold, crowds gathered early to witness the movements of the illustrious visitors and their hosts.

It was announced today that Princess Astrid would remain a Protestant (Lutheran) although she would be free later, if she so desired, to adopt Leopold's Catholicism.

Within 200 feet of the crab apple tree and then parked his car.

"When was your first indication that anything was wrong?" asked Simpson.

"I heard some mumbling," replied the witness, a thin, hollow man. "Then I heard a shot," he went on hesitatingly.

"What else?" asked Simpson. "I heard a woman scream. Then

VARE AND SMITH STORM CENTERS IN THE SESSION

HISTORIC SEATING BATTLE MAY OVERSHADOW NEWBERRY CASE

NEITHER MAN HAS SLIGHTEST IDEA OF FORFEITING HIS CLAIM TO A SEAT

By HERBERT LITTLE (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Nov. 3.—Preparations for one of the greatest political tugs-of-war the senate has ever known were being made today.

One senate group aims to unseat William S. Vare and Frank Smith, senators-elect from Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Only failure of the two to present credentials can prevent a historic seating battle overshadowing the famous Newberry case, and neither man entertains the slightest idea of forfeiting his claim to a seat.

"Irregular republican" senators are seeking a loophole whereby seating of the two will be delayed pending investigation of their cases.

A vote on the question of disqualifying them as unfit to be United States senators would then be attempted. The constitution gives the senate the authority to determine the fitness of its members to sit.

Senate precedent holds that if proper election credentials are presented the elected men must be seated, and that any investigation must be conducted afterward, with a vote on unseating as the culmination of the proceeding. The motion to unseat Newberry lost by a close margin, but he resigned after a resolution characterized $195,000 as too heavy a primary campaign expenditure.

The plan to bar Vare, for whom about $600,000 was spent in a $3,000,000 primary campaign and Smith nominated with an expenditure of about $600,000, is believed to be based upon evidence unearthed by Senator Reed's expenditures investigation.

The anti-Smith and anti-Vare men are expected to contend nothing is necessary except to consider the Reed evidence and vote upon the fitness of the two men.

This strategy would eliminate a committee hearing to gather evidence. A two-thirds vote is needed for unseating.

Vare and Smith are scheduled to be seated in the 70th congress which in the ordinary course of events will meet in December, 1927.

REV. J. F. NORRIS FACES MURDER CHARGE SOON

Austin, Texas, Nov. 4.—(UP)—Trial of the Rev. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church, on a charge of murdering Peter E. Chippis, wealthy lumberman, probably will be held in January, Judge James R. Hamilton of Travis county, announced yesterday.

On a change of venue Tuesday the case was transferred to Judge Hamilton's court from Tarrant county.

WIFE IS SHERIFF, HUSBAND TO SERVE AS DEPUTY

Jefferson, Wis., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Mrs. John C. Gruel, wife of the present republican sheriff, will wear the badge of that office for the next term while he serves as her deputy.

Mrs. Gruel won the election with approximately 300 votes more than Walter Stanton of Fort Atkinson, independent democrat.

WETS AND DRY BELIEVE IT TO BE ISSUE IN 1928

DRYS ARE ALREADY LAYING PLANS WITH THIS ISSUE IN MIND

WETS, TOO, FORESEE THAT PROHIBITION WILL BE FIGHTING ISSUE IN 1928

By CARL D. GROAT (United Press Staff Correspondent) Washington, Nov. 4.—Prohibition is destined, in the opinion of wets and drys here today, to become the dominant 1928 presidential campaign issue.

Drys are already laying plans with this issue in mind.

The National Temperance Council, the United Press learns, will convene here next month with the 1928 campaign, on a dry-wet basis, as its chief topic of discussion. This organization is a sort of super-organization embodying the Anti-Saloon League and all other dry groups.

Wets, too, foresee that prohibition will be the fighting issue of 1928.

Drys assert the Tuesday election results leave unaltered the strength they have had in congress hitherto, and that state referendums have not fundamentally altered the prohibition situation. But they see in Governor Al Smith's New York gubernatorial victory a sign that a wet is likely to be strongly listed as democratic presidential campaign timber.

Dry leaders foresee that President Coolidge, if he becomes a candidate, will be for the dry side.

These drys would welcome the candidacy of Smith, for, they say, it would deal the wets a terrible blow. They believe the solid democratic south would knife Smith as a wet since the south is admittedly dry.

One of the men in drydom's inner councils said today the Smith candidacy would tear the democratic party apart. The south would vote for a republican president rather than for a wet, he asserted.

Wayne B. Wheeler, head of the Anti-Saloon League here, contended the Tuesday outcome showed the drys won "in every state where they had a fighting chance except Massachusetts," that the wets got only "nine out of 35 senators elected," and "over 300 members of the house with dry records or pronouncements have been elected."

"The wet votes in these referenda and those cases for the election of nullification congressmen and senators challenge the drys to get busier than ever during the next two years," Wheeler said.

DAVIS LOSES HIS $5,000,000 LIBEL ACTION BROUGHT

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Jonathan M. Davis, former governor of Kansas, has lost his $5,000,000 libel suit filed against the Kansas City Journal Post it was revealed today.

The libel action was the result of stories published in the Journal Post giving the details of the alleged sale of pardons by Davis when he was governor.

Davis was tried and acquitted of charges of bribery in connection with the issuance of pardons and paroles to prisoners.

RIFLEMEN, GUARDS ON DUTY IN PRISONS

SEEK TO AVOID REPETITION OF MURDEROUS OUTBREAK IN TOMBS

FOUR MEN KILLED, 3 WOUNDED
IN NEW YORK PRISON
AFFAIR

New York, Nov. 4.—(UP)—Riflemen, special guards armed with riot guns and machine guns were ordered today on duty at all prisons here to prevent a repetition of the murderous outbreak in the Tombs yesterday in which four men were killed and three wounded.

A feeling of unrest prevailed among the thousands of criminals, authorities believe, and they have been afraid for weeks that a wholesale outbreak would be attempted. It came suddenly yesterday and the Tombs guards were caught unaware. Three notorious criminals tried to shoot their way out and almost succeeded.

They killed Warden Peter Mallon and Jeremiah Murphy, a guard. Two of them, Robert Berg and Hyman Amberg, were killed. The third, Michael (Red) McKenna, was dying in a hospital today. Daniel O'Connor, a guard, was in the same hospital, seriously wounded. The other casualty was J. A. Studwell, an office worker, who was hit in the hand by a stray bullet as he witnessed the siege from an eighth story window.

VAULTS THAT HOLD
SECRETS OF STATE

Confidential Papers of Presidents at Washington.

The vaults of the Library of Congress contain several valuable collections of confidential papers besides the Lincoln letters, which are to be made public after 21 years under the will of the martyred President's son, the late Robert Todd Lincoln.

Locked in steel compartments of the library's manuscript department are the Presidential papers of Cleveland, Roosevelt and Taft. They are kept in privacy, not for any specific period, but until further orders are given by those having them in charge. The widows of Presidents Cleveland and Roosevelt may bestow the right of access to these collections, and this permission has been given occasionally for biographical or scientific research.

Chief Justice Taft placed his communications as President in the library for safekeeping some years ago. No part of them may be seen without an order from him in writing. The collection of Charles J. Bonaparte, attorney general under Roosevelt, also is held pending further instructions. These statesmen belong to the present generation, or were so close to it that they or their executors felt that publication should be delayed until political animosities had faded and personal misunderstandings forgotten. Custodians of the papers say there is little or nothing in them that would cause diplomatic embarrassment, but might reopen old wounds or revive stirring controversies. These difficulties will be smoothed out with the years, and there will be no reason to withhold publicity.

No such inhibitions surround the writings of the early Presidents. The manuscripts of George Washington are bound in large volumes, and may be studied in intimate detail by the historian. Similar access is permitted to the writings of the succeeding Presidents—John Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, John Quincy Adams and Andrew Jackson.

Those who enter the reading room of original manuscripts, however, must come recommended by a university or some other organization or individual known to the library authorities.

In the outer room, open to the public, are framed examples of the handwriting of all the Presidents, as well as of cabinet officers, diplomats, soldiers and others concerned importantly in the development of the country.

CITY VOTES DOWN SCHOOL QUESTIONS

Six City Precincts Heard From Show Site and Bond Questions Lost

FOURTH WARD INCOMPLETE

Ward Will Vote Heavily in Favor But Impossible to Overcome Arrears

Six city precincts, with the exception of the Fourth Ward where returns this afternoon were incomplete showed that the school question site had lost by 1,160 votes while the school bonds question had gone under by 1,121 votes.

The total vote in the six precincts shows the following result: Site, yes, 860; against, 1,920; school bonds, yes, 789; against, 1,910.

Ward No. 4 is expected to be largely in favor of the school site with a division of votes on the bond question. The vote in that ward however will not alter the decision made by the majority of the voters who voted down the school question on both counts.

The completion of the count in Ward 4 is expected late this afternoon.

FROM MORRISON COUNTY

Senator C. Rosenmeier Polled a Large Majority in His Home County in Race for Senator

Forty-three out of 48 precincts in Morrison county give Senator C. Rosenmeier of Little Falls 5,717 and Basil T. Heath of Brainerd 1,446. This makes Senator Rosenmeier's majority in his home county 4,271. In Crow Wing county last returns the senator had an even break with Mr. Heath.

Edward P. Scallon, candidate for representative-at-large, polled a majority of 2,000 to 3,000 in Morrison county and a heavy majority in Crow Wing county over R. L. Kuehmichel.

Ambidexterity

If, in spite of precautions, you should one day detect the acid, penetrating odor of a chimney fire, pour five or ten pounds of table salt down the chimney and at the same time turn in an alarm of fire.—Domestic article in a woman's magazine.

Restricted Production Would Be a Calamity

It is hard to conceive of such a thing as too much food in the country, and still just that is a cause of trouble with agriculture. The production of more food stuffs than we consume in this country gives us surpluses of certain farm crops. We have raised these surpluses for a hundred years or more and disposed of them to the people of the countries across the water. As long as industry, labor and agriculture were on about the same levels in this country, this worked out alright. It meant more revenues for farming here.

When, however, American industry and American labor achieved levels that are higher than those of other countries of the world, it caused the surpluses of agriculture to become one of its serious problems. It has been suggested that the farmers, to avoid having any surpluses, should restrict their production; but if they did—if they could and did set a limit on what they would produce throughout the entire country—a tremendous hazard would be involved. If growing conditions—something over which the growers assuredly have no control—should be unfavorable over the entire country some year—it would mean cold, stark famine conditions. There would be untold suffering. Prices would go sky-high.

The people of the United States have never had to know the throes of famine. May they never have to know them; but it would not require much of a decrease in total food production to pitch us into it. A study of statistics will disclose that we are at all times only a little ahead on the national supply of food-stuffs.

A varying to the production of less of the crops of which we produce a surplus and more of those of which the domestic production is less than the domestic demand will be but good business judgment; but that farming should have to market less of its products while all other lines of business aim to market more, to increase their revenues, is neither logical nor just.

"Seedy Looking Fellow"

"Seedy" literally refers to a plant which has "gone to seed." A poor, shabby and mean-looking person is supposed to resemble a plant in its last stages. The term "seedy" is especially applied to a person who is in need of a haircut and whose clothes are shabby and threadbare.

Mean Fling at Tenors

Mark Twain has a story about a man who consulted a brain specialist, because he suffered from severe headaches. The doctor suggested he should leave his brain, as it required examining. When the man called a few days later, the doctor inquired if he had missed his brain very much. "Not very much," he replied. "I am an operatic tenor!"

BELL RINGERS TO PLAY HERE

Agre's Scandia Art Bell Ringers to Appear at Bethlehem Lutheran Church

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 23

Quartet of Four Men Have Been Favorably Received Wherever They Played

Agre's Scandia Art Bell Ringers will appear at the Bethlehem Lutheran church, November 23, under the auspices of the Men's club.

The bell ringers consist of four men, O. E. Agre, G. Holter, E. Roll, A. Agre and last year created a sensation with their playing wherever they appeared in public concerts throughout the country. This year, after reorganizing and spending eight hours a day for four months in intensive training, they are presenting an even more interesting program.

The music is produced on a set of one hundred and ten handbells with a tonal range of five octaves. In every way it is rendered true to the original score, with correct melody and full harmony.

One of the great problems which have proved an almost unsurmountable obstacle to bellringers is the selection and arranging of suitable music. That this troupe, however, has succeeded where so many others have failed is clearly indicated in the following comment, which appeared in the Herald-Argus, La Porte, Ind., January 12, 1926. "One of La Porte's foremost musicians, in attendance, said he had never enjoyed a rendition of 'Aase's Death' to the extent that he did when listening to it on bells. And such was the general as well as artistic success of the concert, that this church hopes to make an entertainment of this character an annual event."

Official Mace Carrier

The appointment of Clifford Longden in succession to Sir Walter Gibson as one of his majesty's four sergeants-at-arms draws attention to this interesting and ancient office, remarks the London News.

For all the military sound of his name, a sergeant-at-arms has now no connection with the army, but is purely a court functionary. It is at levees, state balls and concerts that he comes into his own as an attendant on his majesty. Even here, however, he wears no special uniform, but is distinguished simply by a special silver collar of office.

One special charge, further, he has the bearing of one of the gold medals of the regalia at a coronation ceremony. As this mace weighs 34 pounds, he is likely to be decidedly thankful when coronation day is over.

CITY VOTES DOWN SCHOOL QUESTIONS

Six City Precincts Heard From Show Site and Bond Questions Lost

FOURTH WARD INCOMPLETE

Ward Will Vote Heavily in Favor But Impossible to Overcome Acreas

Six city precincts, with the exception of the Fourth Ward where returns this afternoon were incomplete showed that the school question site had lost by 1,160 votes while the school bonds question had gone under by 1,121 votes.

The total vote in the six precincts shows the following result:

Site, yes, 860; against, 1,920; school bonds, yes, 789; against, 1,910.

Ward No. 4 is expected to be largely in favor of the school site with a division of votes on the bond question. The vote in that ward however will not alter the decision made by the majority of the voters who voted down the school question on both counts.

The completion of the count in Ward 4 is expected late this afternoon.

FROM MORRISON COUNTY

Senator C. Rosenmeier Polled a Large Majority in His Home County in Race for Senator

Forty-three out of 48 precincts in Morrison county give Senator C. Rosenmeier of Little Falls 5,717 and Basil T. Heath of Brainerd 1,446. This makes Senator Rosenmeier's majority in his home county 4,271. In Crow Wing county last returns the senator had an even break with Mr. Heath.

Edward P. Scallon, candidate for representative-at-large, polled a majority of 2,000 to 3,000 in Morrison county and a heavy majority in Crow Wing county over R. L. Kuehmichel.

Ambidexterity

If, in spite of precautions, you should one day detect the acrid, penetrating odor of a chimney fire, pour five or ten pounds of table salt down the chimney and at the same time turn in an alarm of fire. Domestic article in a woman's magazine.

Restricted Production Would Be a Calamity

It is hard to conceive of such a thing as too much food in the country, and still just that is a cause of trouble with agriculture. The production of more food stuffs than we consume in this country gives us our surplus of certain farm crops. We have raised these surpluses for a hundred years or more and disposed of them to the people of the countries across the water. As long as industry, labor and agriculture were on about the same levels in this country, this worked out alright. It meant more revenues for farming here.

When, however, American industry and American labor achieved levels that are higher than those of other countries of the world, it caused the surpluses of agriculture to become one of its serious problems. It has been suggested that the farmers, to avoid having any surpluses, should restrict their production; but if they did—if they could and did set a limit on what they would produce throughout the entire country—a tremendous hazard would be involved. If growing conditions—something over which the growers assuredly have no control—should be unfavorable over the entire country some year—it would mean cold, stark famine conditions. There would be untold suffering. Prices would go sky-high.

The people of the United States have never had to know the throes of famine. May they never have to know them; but it would not require much of a decrease in total food production to pitch us into it. A study of statistics will disclose that we are at all times only a little ahead on the national supply of food-stuffs. A varying to the production of less of the crops of which we produce a surplus and more of those of which the domestic productions is less than the domestic demand will be but good business judgment; but that farming should have to market less of its products while all other lines of business aim to market more, to increase their revenues, is neither logical nor just.

"Seedy Looking Fellow"

"Seedy" literally refers to a plant which has "gone to seed." A poor, shabby and mean-looking person is supposed to resemble a plant in its last stages. The term "seedy" is especially applied to a person who is in need of a haircut and whose clothes are shabby and threadbare.

Mean Fling at Tenors

Mark Twain has a story about a man who consulted a brain specialist, because he suffered from severe headaches. The doctor suggested he should leave his brain, as it required examining. When the man called a few days later, the doctor inquired if he had missed his brain very much. "Not very much," he replied. "I am an operatic tenor!"

BELL RINGERS TO PLAY HERE

Agre's Scandia Art Bell Ringers to Appear at Bethlehem Lutheran Church

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 23

Quartet of Four Men Have Been Favorably Received Wherever They Played

Agre's Scandia Art Bell Ringers will appear at the Bethlehem Lutheran church, November 23, under the auspices of the Men's club.

The bell ringers consist of four men, O. E. Agre, G. Holter, E. Roll, A. Agre and last year created a sensation with their playing wherever they appeared in public concerts throughout the country. This year, after reorganizing and spending eight hours a day for four months in intensive training, they are presenting an even more interesting program.

The music is produced on a set of one hundred and ten handbells with a tonal range of five octaves. In every way it is rendered true to the original score, with correct melody and full harmony.

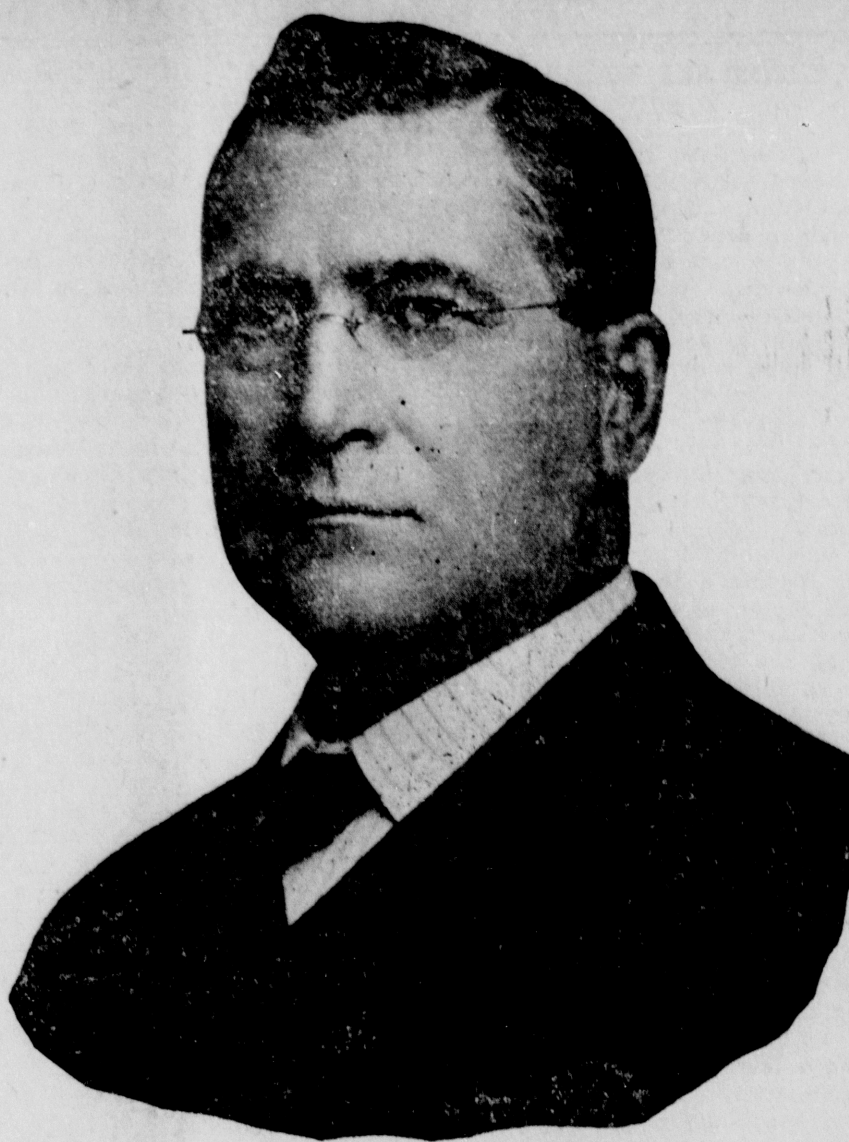

One of the great problems which have proved an almost unsurmountable obstacle to bellringers is the selection and arranging of suitable music. That this troupe, however, has succeeded where so many others have failed is clearly indicated in the following comment, which appeared in the Herald-Argus, La Porte, Ind., January 12, 1926. "One of La Porte's foremost musicians, in attendance, said he had never enjoyed a rendition of 'Aase's Death' to the extent that he did when listening to it on bells. And such was the general as well as artistic success of the concert, that this church hopes to make an entertainment of this character an annual event."

Official Mace Carrier

The appointment of Clifford Longden in succession to Sir Walter Gibson as one of his majesty's four sergeants-at-arms draws attention to this interesting and ancient office, remarks the London News.

For all the military sound of his name, a sergeant-at-arms has now no connection with the army, but is purely a court functionary. It is at levees, state balls and concerts that he comes into his own as an attendant on his majesty. Even here, however, he wears no special uniform, but is distinguished simply by a special silver collar of office.

One special charge, further, he has the bearing of one of the gold maces of the regalia at a coronation ceremony. As this mace weighs 34 pounds, he is likely to be decidedly thankful when coronation day is over.

A DAY DEVOTED TO MUSIC

At the Rotary club luncheon this week, the day was devoted to a discussion of music. Band music was the topic of the symposium.

The speakers were W. R. Hiller, director of the Brainerd Municipal band; E. A. Page, director of the Brainerd Boys Concert band; Mrs. Winifred Cronk Ziebell, director of the Brainerd Ladies band.

Much enlightening information was given and the Rotarians are convinced the future of band music in Brainerd rests in secure hands. Each organization is faced with problems.

For instance, in the Municipal band, the question is keeping the organization recruited to full strength. Musicians are anxious to join if they can secure employment in Brainerd. Mr. Hiller believes in having more seating capacity at the city concerts so as to avoid the constant milling of a crowd that gets restless when they must stand through a performance. The aim of the director is to give well balanced programs. There are 25 members in the band and most of them own their own instruments and uniforms.

The band donates its services wherever possible and will play for the coming paving celebration. He explained the difficulties facing some of the bandsmen when playing gratis meant losing time in office and shops. In other words, the musician gave his band services freely and lost his half day or whatever it was in shops or business.

E. A. Page, director of the Brainerd Boys Concert band gave a history of his organization from its inception, when Prof. Pflock three years ago was instrumental in creating the enthusiasm which launched the association. Mr. Page as a professional musician, conducted boys bands in Illinois and other states and so has had the necessary experience before taking up his work in Brainerd. The present band has a membership of 45. It should have, said Mr. Page, a membership of 75 or 100.

St. Cloud has a boys band of 250 and it gives St. Cloud much desirable advertising. In fact, said Mr. Page, all bands of Brainerd give the city much advertising and should be encouraged. Getting the boys interested in band music, gives them diversion in play hours, keeps them assigned to productive tasks. Boys formerly in bands of Mr. Page expressed themselves as well pleased with the instruction they had gained, for when they entered college, they were able to join the college band and gain many favors, outings, etc. The boys band of any town, said Mr. Page, can serve as a feeder to the municipal band.

Mrs. Winifred Cronk Ziebell, director of the Brainerd Ladies band, spoke of her organization. With no city tax to assist them, the girls have relied on their own endeavors to buy uniforms, music and to pay their expenses to various band engagements. The problem of financing has been a deep study and required constant work to meet all difficulties. The band has won honor and renown for Brainerd. The most far reaching engagement of the band was playing at the State Fair and the girls acquitted themselves well. She thanked the Rotarians, Lions and Chamber of Commerce for aid in sending down the whole band.

She distributed among Rotarians advertising placards, photographs, etc., of the band as used at the State Fair, showing some of the publicity accorded Brainerd in addition to actual playing and newspaper mention. The band also received complimentary resolutions and letters in plenty.

She read figures showing how the band paid for its music and uniforms. The band election was held Tuesday evening.

There was much food for thought in all three addresses made and left something for the Rotarians to consider. It showed the three bands working energetically and courageously in their respective spheres. Summing it all up, we doubt if any other town the size of Brainerd can show as much enthusiasm and such fine results.

THE PAVING CELEBRATION

THE Paving Celebration Committee is working daily through its general chairmen and sub-chairmen and committee men to make the event a success. True, it will take place in probably chilly weather, but it will signalize the fact that through the efforts of C. M. Babcock of the State Highway Commission our paved roads are to be made 365 days in the year roads.

A paved road hereafter will be open for traffic the year around. Think what that means! Buses will run regular routes regardless of weather conditions. Farmers living at or near such a paved road can come to town and trade in Brainerd regardless of weather conditions.

The "open road" will hereafter be no figure of speech. Just as Rome flourished when highways radiated to all points of the empire, so will Brainerd gain in commercial and other ways. And just as Rome found, that the best road is none too good, so will all Minnesota come to the ultimate conclusion that the paved road is the only kind to handle heavy and constant traffic, with the minimum amount necessary for upkeep and maintenance.

And Rome built so well in its day that the Appian road is no figure of speech. Parts of Roman concrete highways are still in existence in Britain.

THE COURT COMMISSIONERSHIP

THE court commissionership will require a Philadelphia lawyer to unravel. The symposium this morning received a letter from C. A. Krech and Charley writes as follows:

"Referring to the contest between Dave Schrader and G. W. Chadbourne for the office of court commissioner! As I recall it, Jens Molstad easily mowed down all opponents and contestants for this office in 1924, and as he is a faithful and conscientious official his many friends will certainly make a strenuous protest against his being ousted, at least until his term expires."

We find, on examination, that Jens was elected but he refused to accept office or to qualify. Thus Jens is the only shrinking violet we have in the field of politics. So the appointment went to the next man, Mr. Chadbourne. He qualified and his term is good for some years more.

At last reports Dave Schrader was still running and had polled five votes in Ironton, although we do not see how he can use them if things are as they are.

TESTIFIED SHE HEARD

FOUR SHOTS FIRED

He heard three other shots in rapid succession and what sounded like a moaning sound.

"Did you ever tell anyone that on the night of September 14, you had seen Henry Stevens and that he had said to you, 'What the hell are you doing here?' And then had fired two shots in the ground?"

"Absolutely not," Gorsline also denied having been forced under duress to swear that he would not reveal the events of that night.

Gorsline said he met Miss Catherine Rastall, a choir singer in Dr. Hall's church, the church of which Gorsline was a vestryman, and invited her to go for a ride. "We drove to Buclench Park and then turned into DeRussey's Lane."

"How much time did you spend there?" he was asked.

"Seven or eight minutes," he answered.

Q.—"And how long were you there before you heard shots?"

A.—"One or two minutes." It was brought out that Gorsline was married and that Miss Rastall was not.

Gorsline for four years kept silent as to his visit to DeRussey's Lane, but a few weeks ago his story became public.

Gorsline said he had heard or seen nothing which might indicate the identity of the murderers.

He said he had heard shots, stayed in his car for five minutes and then had driven home without investigating.

The next witness was E. T. Hoag, slightly deaf now but who insisted his hearing was excellent on September 14, 1922, when he lived near the Phillips farm.

Hoag said he had heard four shots on the night of the murder, that he had first heard a single shot, thought it was the backfire of an automobile and then had heard three shots.

He said it was about 10 P. M.

Miss Catherine Rastall, Gorsline's companion, was called to the stand.

Her testimony coincided generally with that of Gorsline.

Miss Rastall said she had seen no one but Gorsline while in the lane.

George D. Totten, Somerset county detective, was the next witness.

At the opening of the afternoon session, George Totten, detective, gave another blow to the state's case, when he testified that finger prints said to have been those of Willie Stevens, which were on a calling card, found on the Rev. Hall's body, were not on the card when he himself found it on Hall's corpse, after the murder.

The finger prints formed one of the most important links in the state's case, it having been argued that their presence on the card found on Hall gave evidence that Stevens was present at the murder.

After Totten testified, Fred Dressin, Jersey City police officer, an expert on finger prints, testified the prints on the card were similar to those of Willie Stevens.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

Max Mason

President Max Mason of the University of Chicago, known in England during the world war as "the crazy Yankee who invents submarine detectors between golf matches," likes to play golf almost as well as to perform experiments in the physical laboratory.

The inventor, according to the U. S. war department, of the "most practical submarine detector," President Mason has long been interested in experimental research. He is much more successful in the laboratory than he is on the links, but it is said by his associates that he negotiates most of the courses well under 100.

With no city tax to assist them, the girls have relied on their own endeavors to buy uniforms, music and to pay their expenses to various band engagements. The problem of financing has been a deep study and required constant work to meet all difficulties. The band has won honor and renown for Brainerd. The most far reaching engagement of the band was playing at the State Fair and the girls acquitted themselves well. She thanked the Rotarians, Lions and Chamber of Commerce for aid in sending down the whole band.

She distributed among Rotarians advertising placards, photographs, etc., of the band as used at the State Fair, showing some of the publicity accorded Brainerd in addition to actual playing and newspaper mention. The band also received complimentary resolutions and letters in plenty.

She read figures showing how the band paid for its music and uniforms. The band election was held Tuesday evening.

There was much food for thought in all three addresses made and left something for the Rotarians to consider. It showed the three bands working energetically and courageously in their respective spheres. Summing it all up, we doubt if any other town the size of Brainerd can show as much enthusiasm and such fine results.

THE PAVING CELEBRATION

The Paving Celebration Committee is working daily through its general chairmen and sub-chairmen and committee men to make the event a success. True, it will take place in probably chilly weather, but it will signalize the fact that through the efforts of C. M. Babcock of the State Highway Commission our paved roads are to be made 365 days in the year roads.

A paved road hereafter will be open for traffic the year around. Think what that means! Buses will run regular routes regardless of weather conditions. Farmers living at or near such a paved road can come to town and trade in Brainerd regardless of weather conditions.

The "open road" will hereafter be no figure of speech. Just as Rome flourished when highways radiated to all points of the empire, so will Brainerd gain in commercial and other ways. And just as Rome found, that the best road is none too good, so will all Minnesota come to the ultimate conclusion that the paved road is the only kind to handle heavy and constant traffic, with the minimum amount necessary for upkeep and maintenance.

And Rome built so well in its day that the Appian road is no figure of speech. Parts of Roman concrete highways are still in existence in Britain.

THE COURT COMMISSIONERSHIP

The court commissionership will require a Philadelphia lawyer to unravel. The symposium this morning received a letter from C. A. Krech and Charley writes as follows:

"Referring to the contest between Dave Schrader and G. W. Chadbourne for the office of court commissioner! As I recall it, Jens Molstad easily mowed down all opponents and contestants for this office in 1924, and as he is a faithful and conscientious official his many friends will certainly make a strenuous protest against his being ousted, at least until his term expires."

We find, on examination, that Jens was elected but he refused to accept office or to qualify. Thus Jens is the only shrinking violet we have in the field of politics. So the appointment went to the next man, Mr. Chadbourne. He qualified and his term is good for some years more.

At last reports Dave Schrader was still running and had polled five votes in Ironton, although we do not see how he can use them if things are as they are.

TESTIFIED SHE HEARD FOUR SHOTS FIRED

He heard three other shots in rapid succession and what sounded like a moaning sound.

"Did you ever tell anyone that on the night of September 14, you had seen Henry Stevens and that he had said to you, 'What the hell are you doing here?' And then had fired two shots in the ground?"

"Absolutely not," Gorsline also denied having been forced under duress to swear that he would not reveal the events of that night.

Gorsline said he met Miss Catherine Rastall, a choir singer in Dr. Hall's church, the church of which Gorsline was a vestryman, and invited her to go for a ride. "We drove to Buellch Park and then turned into DeRussey's Lane."

"How much time did you spend there?" he was asked.

"Seven or eight minutes," he answered.

Q—"And how long were you there before you heard shots?"

A—"One or two minutes."

It was brought out that Gorsline was married and that Miss Rastall was not.

Gorsline for four years kept silent as to his visit to DeRussey's Lane, but a few weeks ago his story became public.

Gorsline said he had heard or seen nothing which might indicate the identity of the murderers.

He said he had heard shots, stayed in his car for five minutes and then had driven home without investigating.

The next witness was E. T. Hoag, slightly deaf now but who insisted his hearing was excellent on September 14, 1922, when he lived near the Phillips farm.

Hoag said he had heard four shots on the night of the murder, that he had first heard a single shot, thought it was the backfire of an automobile and then had heard three shots.

He said it was about 10 P. M. Miss Catherine Rastall, Gorsline's companion, was called to the stand. Her testimony coincided generally with that of Gorsline.

Miss Rastall said she had seen no one but Gorsline while in the lane. George D. Totten, Somerset county detective, was the next witness.

At the opening of the afternoon session, George Totten, detective, gave another blow to the state's case, when he testified that finger prints said to have been those of Willie Stevens, which were on a calling card, found on the Rev. Hall's body, were not on the card when he himself found it on Hall's corpse, after the murder.

The finger prints formed one of the most important links in the state's case, it having been argued that their presence on the card found on Hall gave evidence that Stevens was present at the murder.

After Totten testified, Fred Dressin, Jersey City police officer, an expert on finger prints, testified the prints on the card were similar to those of Willie Stevens.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

Max Mason

President Max Mason of the University of Chicago, known in England during the world war as "the crazy Yankee who invents submarine detectors between golf matches," likes to play golf almost as well as to perform experiments in the physical laboratory.

The inventor, according to the U. S. war department, of the "most practical submarine detector," President Mason has long been interested in experimental research. He is much more successful in the laboratory than he is on the links, but it is said by his associates that he negotiates most of the courses well under 100.

COBB, GEORGIA PEACH, TO RETIRE

GIVES UP JOB AS MANAGER OF DETROIT TIGERS

GEORGE MORIARITY, AMERICAN LEAGUE UMPIRE, TO SUC-CEED HIM

COBB HOLDS PRACTICALLY EV-ERY BASEBALL RECORD EX-CEPT HOME RUNS

By MARBEN GRAHAM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Detroit, Nov. 4.—Tyrus Raymond
Cobb, the Georgia peach of baseball, has resigned his place as manager of the Detroit Tigers, retaining until the last those idiosyncracies which distinguished him from both the average man and ball player.

In his place, George Moriarity,
American League umpire and former Detroit Tiger third baseman, has been named to take up the helm of the Detroit club.

While Cobb was on his way to the many baseball records he holds, and he holds practically every batting mark except for home runs, no one could ever say when he would report to train or to a ball game, any more than an opponent could tell what he would do when at bat or on the paths.

So, when the fiery manager decided he had had enough, he comes to Detroit for one day, tells his boss,
Frank J. Navin, a high commissioner of baseball, "I think I'll quit," and goes away.

It took Navin two full days to realize that the man, who, he once told writers "built these steel stands for us and can stay as long as he wishes," actually was through. Even today the Tiger magnate refused to say he had Cobb's resignation but admitted it had been "mentioned."

Cobb is believed to be the only ball player who actually became a millionaire through playing ball. He cost the Tigers $700 in 1905 and then starred as a player for 15 years before taking up the player-manager job, always drawing high pay.

During the six years he headed the team it is understood he drew $260,000 salary. Last year Bradstreet gave him a million dollar rating, according to word here. Cobb has under consideration the purchase of the Atlanta, Ga., Southern League
"Crackers," it is said. He also has been mentioned as a possible part-owner to the Brooklyn Robins.

Moriarity has a host of Detroit friends. He was a member of the Tigers for six years, playing in the 1909 world series.

Fans are awaiting with great interest the results that new manager will have with the material which Cobb piloted to one second, two third,
a fourth, fifth and sixth positions.
It has been contended that poor directing has cost the city a pennant or two.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 4.—Frank J.
Navin, president of the Detroit Tigers, officially announced today that George Moriarity, American League umpire and former Tiger, will be appointed manager of the club on receipt of Ty Cobb's resignation.

"We wish Cobb the best of luck in whatever he undertakes in the future," Navin added in confirmation of Cobb's intention to resign.
He made it clear, however, that Ty's formal resignation had not yet been received.

FOOTBALL EXPERTS FLUNK IN FORECASTS

SHOW AS MUCH SENSE AS HORSE IN BURNING BARN

EXPERT ON FOOTBALL GETS HIS
OPINIONS SCORCHED TIME
AFTER TIME

WEEK BY WEEK, THE UNDE-FEATED TEAMS HAVE
DWINDED

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 4.—No reason has ever been advanced to explain the folly of a horse that will dash back into a burning barn and the cause that prompts an expert to get his judgment on football teams scorched week after week is just as much a mystery.

The horse simply does it and so does the expert. Last Saturday, the week previously the major football teams did just what the experts said they would not do. But this week offers some consolation to the brave prophets. They cannot make as many errors of judgment because there will not be as many big games.

Week by week the undefeated teams all over the country, especially in the east, have dwindled from an impressive platoon to a skimpy squad with some blank files.

Notre Dame and Ohio State remain the class of the middle west; Army, Navy, Brown, Lafayette and New York University in the east; Alabama in the south; Stanford on the coast, and Missouri in the "Valley Conference."

Of these undefeated teams it is only a sure bet that Ohio State will still be undefeated next Saturday night because Ohio State does not play Saturday.

There is only one real game in the east and it will attract notice principally because of its tradition. That game is the first of the "Big Three" series between Harvard and Princeton.

If anyone can pick the winner of that game he can have it. Harvard, stronger and with some of that stuff the professors call inspiration, looks like the choice but grizzled experts never know how to figure a Princeton team in its two major games.

Yale, having been defeated by Brown and the Army, looks with relief on a game with Maryland and if Maryland is as easy as Yale seems to expect, it will give the battered team a rest for two hard games that are coming against Princeton and Harvard.

Pennsylvania, bumped last week by Illinois in one of the big surprises of the day, continues on a schedule that contains nothing but frying pans into the fire. Penn State will oppose Pennsylvania and while Penn State has not been prospering so well since the days of Hinky Haines and Glenn Killinger, the team can be counted upon to play any superbowl it might have in one of its traditional battles.

Georgetown, which is one of the stumbling blocks the Navy has to pass on the road to a championship, will play Syracuse in an interesting game that will be more interesting for the hope it may provide on Georgetown's possibilities against the Navy.

Uncle Sam's Cadets and Midshipmen, who are plunging along toward an Army-Navy game that may carry a title as national champions, have what may safely be assumed to be easy games.

The Army opposes Franklin and Marshall and the Navy plays West Virginia Wesleyans.

Notre Dame, which is said to be prepared to spurn an invitation to become a member of the western conference, will mingle with Indiana, another "Big Ten" team, and Knute Rockne may be able to get by with his third team. If the third does not work well he will have to use his second team and if they do not deliver, the first will.

Michigan, beaten last week by the Navy, faces another heavy game against Wisconsin and it is not a game that could provide a breather to help the squad get ready for next week's game against Ohio State.

Leaf Manager Signs

St. Louis Contract

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Dan Howley, manager of the Toronto club in the International League, yesterday was signed to a three year contract as manager of the St. Louis Browns of the American League, President Phil D. Ball of the local club, announced.

There was no statement as to what salary Howley would get under the contract. He will succeed George Sisler, who has been manager of the club for the past two years, but who was relieved as manager at the end of this season. It is not known whether Sisler will remain with the Browns.

THE INTENTIONAL PASS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 4.—More fruitless discussion about the necessity of a rule to curb the intentional pass will surely be heard if Commissioner Landis calls a meeting of the joint baseball rules committee while the major league club owners are in their annual winter sessions in December.

Granting that in some cases the intentional passing of a dangerous batter in a pinch is not a fair deal to the fans who pay to see a certain hitter kill the ball and that it may be an evil, the rules committee might pass a new rule if they knew what was the perfect corrective measure.

So far no one has offered a solution that would strike a balance between a wild pitcher's unintentional passing of a batter and a smart pitcher's strategy in putting a batter safely on first base who might knock the ball out of the park and break up the game.

There was a tremendous outburst of protest over the number of times that Babe Ruth was passed during the world's series by the St. Louis pitchers. It was pointed out that every time the Babe got a good cut at the ball he knocked it out of the park and the passing was held up as an injustice to the fans who had been attracted to the park by the hope that Babe would get a couple more.

With one exception, however, every one of the Cardinal pitchers pitched to the Babe. He was passed intentionally several times, of course, but on each of those several occasions, it was good baseball for Hornsby to order the pass and it would have been terrible baseball for him to have allowed the Babe to hit.

It might be argued on one hand that the first duty of the player is to the public that pays the money that pays the salaries of the players. But how many public professionals in other lines think so much of their public that they would sacrifice their own interests for the benefit of the public.

The St. Louis ball club, if public duty is to be discussed, owed its first duty to the St. Louis fans. And the first obligation to St. Louis and to themselves was to win the world's series. Every ball that was pitched meant a difference of about $2,000 to each player and that meant that every ball pitched was a $50,000 ball on each side.

Alexander pitched to the Babe and he pitched to him in the critical ninth inning of the last game when a homer would have ruined the series for St. Louis. It is true that the Babe was passed but Alex had two strikes on him and the fourth called ball wasn't more than an inch off the corner of the plate.

There have been many suggestions made, some of them theoretically fine but none of them really practical. There never will be a way to prevent a manager from ordering an intentional pass because the penalty can't be made so severe that he couldn't afford to take the chance.

One suggestion that has some merit comes from Albert L. Lengel, of Bakersfield, Cal. He proposes a rule that "No batter shall take a base on balls who has not had two strikes served him."

There have been suggestions that a batter would not have to take the base on balls unless he so desired; that there be a penalty of an additional base imposed after the first pass; that the runners on base be allowed to advance a base even if they weren't forced by the pass.

Officials of the game rightfully are slow in experimenting with changes in the rules. The game is pretty solid and very well established as it is now.

Although the public may not like it, the intentional pass has become almost as much a part of the strategy of baseball as the sacrifice bunt. The fans, who pay to see Babe Ruth hit, do not mob Miller Huggins when the little manager of the Yankees sends his ball-killing Babe to the plate to bunt. Yet if he is passed by the opposing pitcher they want to tear down the stands.

If the amendment to the rules is proposed merely for the purpose of giving Ruth a chance to hit a rule might be drawn to apply to his individual case.

For instance a rule might work that the first time an individual batter is passed in one game, he would get one base. The second time he was passed, two bases. The third time he was passed three bases and so on. If it happened to be a long game and he was passed five times, what would happen?

Well, that's what the rules committee is up against!

FOOTBALL EXPERTS FLUNK IN FORECASTS

SHOW AS MUCH SENSE AS HORSE IN BURNING BARN

EXPERT ON FOOTBALL GETS HIS
OPINIONS SCORCHED TIME
AFTER TIME

WEEK BY WEEK, THE UNDE-FEATED TEAMS HAVE
DWINDED

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Nov. 4.—No reason has ever been advanced to explain the folly of a horse that will dash back into a burning barn and the cause that prompts an expert to get his judgment on football teams scorched week after week is just as much a mystery.

The horse simply does it and so does the expert. Last Saturday, the week previously the major football teams did just what the experts said they would not do. But this week offers some consolation to the brave prophets. They cannot make as many errors of judgment because there will not be as many big games.

Week by week the undefeated teams all over the country, especially in the east, have dwindled from an impressive platoon to a skimpy squad with some blank files.

Notre Dame and Ohio State remain the class of the middle west; Army, Navy, Brown, Lafayette and New York University in the east; Alabama in the south; Stanford on the coast, and Missouri in the "Valley Conference."

Of these undefeated teams it is only a sure bet that Ohio State will still be undefeated next Saturday night because Ohio State does not play Saturday.

There is only one real game in the east and it will attract notice principally because of its tradition. That game is the first of the "Big Three" series between Harvard and Princeton.

If anyone can pick the winner of that game he can have it. Harvard, stronger and with some of that stuff the professors call inspiration, looks like the choice but grizzled experts never know how to figure a Princeton team in its two major games.

Yale, having been defeated by Brown and the Army, looks with relief on a game with Maryland and if Maryland is as easy as Yale seems to expect, it will give the battered team a rest for two hard games that are coming against Princeton and Harvard.

Pennsylvania, bumped last week by Illinois in one of the big surprises of the day, continues on a schedule that contains nothing but frying pans into the fire. Penn State will oppose Pennsylvania and while Penn State has not been prospering so well since the days of Hinky Haines and Glenn Killinger, the team can be counted upon to play any superbowl it might have in one of its traditional battles.

Georgetown, which is one of the stumbling blocks the Navy has to pass on the road to a championship, will play Syracuse in an interesting game that will be more interesting for the dope it may provide on Georgetown's possibilities against the Navy.

Uncle Sam's Cadets and Midshipmen, who are plunging along toward an Army-Navy game that may carry a title as national champions, have what may safely be assumed to be easy games.

The Army opposes Franklin and Marshall and the Navy plays West Virginia Wesleyans.

Notre Dame, which is said to be prepared to spurn an invitation to become a member of the western conference, will mingle with Indiana, another "Big Ten" team, and Knute Rockne may be able to get by with his third team. If the third does not work well he will have to use his second team and if they do not deliver, the first will.

Michigan, beaten last week by the Navy, faces another heavy game against Wisconsin and it is not a game that could provide a breather to help the squad get ready for next week's game against Ohio State.

Leaf Manager Signs

St. Louis Contract

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Dan Howley, manager of the Toronto club in the International League, yesterday was signed to a three year contract as manager of the St. Louis Browns of the American League, President Phil D. Ball of the local club, announced.

There was no statement as to what salary Howley would get under the contract. He will succeed George Sisler, who has been manager of the club for the past two years, but who was relieved as manager at the end of this season. It is not known whether Sisler will remain with the Browns.

THE INTENTIONAL PASS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Nov. 4.—More fruitless discussion about the necessity of a rule to curb the intentional pass will surely be heard if Commissioner Landis calls a meeting of the joint baseball rules committee while the major league club owners are in their annual winter sessions in December.

Granting that in some cases the intentional passing of a dangerous batter in a pinch is not a fair deal to the fans who pay to see a certain hitter kill the ball and that it may be an evil, the rules committee might pass a new rule if they knew what was the perfect corrective measure.

So far no one has offered a solution that would strike a balance between a wild pitcher's unintentional passing of a batter and a smart pitcher's strategy in putting a batter safely on first base who might knock the ball out of the park and break up the game.

There was a tremendous outburst of protest over the number of times that Babe Ruth was passed during the world's series by the St. Louis pitchers. It was pointed out that every time the Babe got a good cut at the ball he knocked it out of the park and the passing was held up as an injustice to the fans who had been attracted to the park by the hope that Babe would get a couple more.

With one exception, however, every one of the Cardinal pitchers pitched to the Babe. He was passed intentionally several times, of course, but on each of those several occasions, it was good baseball for Hornsby to order the pass and it would have been terrible baseball for him to have allowed the Babe to hit.

It might be argued on one hand that the first duty of the player is to the public that pays the money that pays the salaries of the players. But how many public professionals in other lines think so much of their public that they would sacrifice their own interests for the benefit of the public.

The St. Louis ball club, if public duty is to be discussed, owed its first duty to the St. Louis fans. And the first obligation to St. Louis and to themselves was to win the world's series. Every ball that was pitched meant a difference of about $2,000 to each player and that meant that every ball pitched was a $50,000 ball on each side.

Alexander pitched to the Babe and he pitched to him in the critical ninth inning of the last game when a homer would have ruined the series for St. Louis. It is true that the Babe was passed but Alex had two strikes on him and the fourth called ball wasn't more than an inch off the corner of the plate.

There have been many suggestions made, some of them theoretically fine but none of them really practical. There never will be a way to prevent a manager from ordering an intentional pass because the penalty can't be made so severe that he couldn't afford to take the chance.

One suggestion that has some merit comes from Albert L. Lengel, of Bakersfield, Cal. He proposes a rule that "No batter shall take a base on balls who has not had two strikes served him."

There have been suggestions that a batter would not have to take the base on balls unless he so desired; that there be a penalty of an additional base imposed after the first pass; that the runners on base be allowed to advance a base even if they weren't forced by the pass.

Officials of the game rightfully are slow in experimenting with changes in the rules. The game is pretty solid and very well established as it is now.

Although the public may not like it, the intentional pass has become almost as much a part of the strategy of baseball as the sacrifice bunt. The fans, who pay to see Babe Ruth hit, do not mob Miller Huggins when the little manager of the Yankees sends his ball-killing Babe to the plate to bunt. Yet if he is passed by the opposing pitcher they want to tear down the stands.

If the amendment to the rules is proposed merely for the purpose of giving Ruth a chance to hit a rule might be drawn to apply to his individual case.

For instance a rule might work that the first time an individual batter is passed in one game, he would get one base. The second time he was passed, two bases. The third time he was passed three bases and so on. If it happened to be a long game and he was passed five times, what would happen?

Well, that's what the rules committee is up against!

So popular was Roy E. Dickerson's talk to the local order of DeMolay last evening that an invitation was extended to him to return to Brainerd next year at his convenience and repeat his speech to the Masons of Brainerd and vicinity.

Roy E. "Dad" Dickerson last evening delivered a stirring address on "Now I Place in the Crown of Youth, the Jewel of Cleanliness of Thought, Word, and Deed" to the local members of DeMolay in the Masonic hall. "Dad" Dickerson is in charge of activities and program of the National Council of DeMolay. He reached Brainerd from St. Paul yesterday afternoon and spent the afternoon with Master Councillor John Henry Anderson making suggestions for the future activity of the Roosevelt Chapter. Mr. Dickerson travels a great deal and attains as close a touch as possible with the quarter million DeMolays in this country. His general plan is to meet the leaders at state or district meetings, but Brainerd was fortunate enough to secure him here for the occasion.

At 6:30 p. m. "Dad" Dickerson was the guest of honor at a dinner in the Ransford hotel, attended by the Advisory Committee. Following the dinner, Mr. Dickerson gave the advisory committee an interesting talk on "Advisory Committee Work."

Following the evening meeting DeMolay boys served ice cream, cake, and coffee. This was followed by a discussion.

GIVES LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Paul Stark Seeley, C. S. B., of Portland, Ore., Addressed an Audience in Brainerd

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Mr. Seeley is a Member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, Boston

Paul Stark Seeley, C. S. B., of Portland, Ore., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., delivered a lecture in Brainerd Tuesday evening on Christian Science, entitled, Christian Science: Its Relation to the Destiny of Man.

Mr. Seeley said, in part: "Peter once asked Jesus how many times he should forgive his brother who wronged him. Jesus replied that he should forgive seventy times seven. Does this not mean that the Mind of Christ is that state of mind which is always forgiving, or giving up, the belief that error and wrong are real, and clinging fast to the perfect ideal, wherein our brother is the image of God? An unforgiving thought clings to error and so becomes its victim and its agent, bringing only unhappiness to itself, and no helplessness to others. Forgiving a wrong is the same process as healing a disease. It is realizing that the wrong is not of God and no part of the true man, so is nothing to accept as reality. "Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors" is our petition in the Lord's Prayer. How reasonable and strictly scientific it is when we see that in the very proportion that we give up the belief in the reality of wrong, we find our freedom from all that is evil and wrong. In place of regarding evil as a quality of our brother Jesus taught us to see it and to oppose it as a common enemy.

"In their true meaning Love and Mind are the same. Love is the crown of intelligence. The universe abounds with the expressions of loving intelligence. Every useful and good thing we have is the gift of intelligence, or Love. We see Love made manifest in good thoughts, in the sunshine, in night's starry gems, in the flowers and verdant earth, in the birds that sing and soar, in the pure affection of little children, in the provision by communities of libraries, civic centers, schools, parks, and playgrounds, in good roads that unite and bring men together in friendly fraternity. Love is found in the charity of men like Lincoln and of women like Florence Nightingale, in the unselfish devotion of friends, in increasing kindness to the lower creatures. Love is found in the efforts of nations to

One half of this huge output is consumed by the Ford Industries; the other half—the same first-quality coal—we offer to the public. Ford-owned rails and cargoes bring the coal to the Northwest. These non-waste methods in production and shipment are reflected in the reasonable price you pay for Ford Coal. Higher in heating units and lower in ash than ordinary soft coals, Ford Coal guarantees you greater warmth with fewer shovels per day. You may buy Ford Coal in any standard size. Your dealer can get it for you; and can guarantee you a continuous supply.

NEW PAVEMENT IS OFFICIALLY OPENED

A. W. Moulster, District State Highway Engineer, Announced Opening

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Celebration Will be Held on Saturday, November 13, Announcement Made

A. W. Moulster, district state highway engineer yesterday afternoon officially announced the opening of the pavement of Highway No. 27 to Brainerd.

The opening of the pavement is greeted with pleasure by the entire city and district at large as well as the many tourists and motorists who will benefit by it.

Today many Brainerd motorists made the trip over the new pavement as far as Buffalo Creek. The pavement is well constructed and is certainly a credit to the work of the contractors, Ostrand and Hallet. It also holds the distinction of being the longest stretch of single paving completed in one year in the entire United States.

The next move now will be the celebration to honor the event of Brainerd being linked with the Twin Cities with one direct route of paving. The date for the celebration has been set for Saturday, November 13 and the committee of which Mons Mahlum is chairman are working diligently on arrangements toward making it a success. Invitations have been extended to Governor Theodore Christianson, C. M. Babcock, commissioner of highways in Minnesota to attend the function here. Invitations will also be extended to every Mayor of the cities along the Highway to the city.

The celebration is planned to be held outside but an indoor celebration will also be held in the new State Highway Department building on West Laurel street where speeches will be given.

GIVES LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Paul Stark Seeley, C. S. B., of Portland, Ore., Addressed an Audience in Brainerd

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Mr. Seeley is a Member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, Boston

Paul Stark Seeley, C. S. B., of Portland, Ore., Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., delivered a lecture in Brainerd Tuesday evening on Christian Science, entitled, Christian Science: Its Relation to the Destiny of Man.

Mr. Seeley said, in part: "Peter once asked Jesus how many times he should forgive his brother who wronged him. Jesus replied that he should forgive seventy times seven. Does this not mean that the Mind of Christ is that state of mind which is always forgiving, or giving up, the belief that error and wrong are real, and clinging fast to the perfect ideal. Herein our brother is the image of God? An unforgiving thought clings to error and so becomes its victim and its agent, bringing only unhappiness to itself, and no helpfulness to others. Forgiving a wrong is the same process as healing a disease. It is realizing that the wrong is not of God and no part of the true man, so is nothing to accept as reality. 'Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors' is our petition in the Lord's Prayer. How reasonable and strictly scientific it is when we see that in the very proportion that we give up the belief in the reality of wrong, we find our freedom from all that is evil and wrong. In place of regarding evil as a quality of our brother Jesus taught us to see it and to oppose it as a common enemy."

"In their true meaning Love and Mind are the same. Love is the crown of intelligence. The universe abounds with the expressions of loving intelligence. Every useful and good thing we have is the gift of intelligence, or Love. We see Love made manifest in good thoughts, in the sunshine, in night's starry gems, in the flowers and verdant earth, in the birds that sing and soar, in the pure affection of little children, in the provision by communities of libraries, civic centers, schools, parks, and playgrounds, in good roads that unite and bring men together in friendly fraternity. Love is found in the charity of men like Lincoln and of women like Florence Nightingale, in the unselfish devotion of friends, in increasing kindness to the lower creatures. Love is found in the efforts of nations to

DE MOLAYS HEAR R. E. DICKERSON

"Dad" Dickerson, of National Council is in Charge of Activities

GAVE STIRRING ADDRESS

Was Feted at Dinner by Advisory Committee at Ransford Hotel

So popular was Roy E. Dickerson's talk to the local order of DeMolay last evening that an invitation was extended to him to return to Brainerd next year at his convenience and repeat his speech to the Masons of Brainerd and vicinity.

Roy E. "Dad" Dickerson last evening delivered a stirring address on "Now I Place In the Crown of Youth, the Jewel of Cleanness of Thought, Word, and Deed" to the local members of DeMolay in the Masonic hall. "Dad" Dickerson is in charge of activities and program of the National Council of DeMolay. He reached Brainerd from St. Paul yesterday afternoon and spent the afternoon with Master Councillor John Henry Anderson making suggestions for the future activity of the Roosevelt Chapter. Mr. Dickerson travels a great deal and attains as close a touch as possible with the quarter million DeMolays in this country. His general plan is to meet the leaders at state or district meetings, but Brainerd was fortunate enough to secure him here for the occasion.

At 6:30 p. m. "Dad" Dickerson was the guest of honor at a dinner in the Ransford hotel, attended by the Advisory Committee. Following the dinner, Mr. Dickerson gave the advisory committee an interesting talk on "Advisory Committee Work."

Following the evening meeting DeMolay boys served ice cream, cake, and coffee which was followed by a discussion.

BREAKING GLOBES

Park Board Has Its Eyes on Boys Destroying Such Property

The park board wishes to call attention to the fact that some of the boys are known who deliberately have used sling shots for the destruction and breaking of the globes on lamp posts in Gregory park.

The globes cost three dollars a piece and as practically all of them have been broken, it will add materially to unnecessary expenses of the park board. The police have been informed of the practice and boys caught in the act are liable to prosecution.

PRESIDENT ACCEPTS JUDGE'S RESIGNATION

FEDERAL JUDGE GEORGE W. ENGLISH OF EASTERN ILLINOIS, RESIGNS

LATTER WAS SCHEDULED TO FACE IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS IN SENATE

Washington, Nov. 4. — (UP) — President Coolidge today accepted the resignation of Federal Judge George W. English of eastern Illinois, district of Illinois, who was scheduled to face impeachment proceedings in the senate next week.

The resignation of English may halt his scheduled trial in the senate.

Although he could still be legally haled before the senate to face the impeachment charges, it has been customary in the past when the defendant official resigned in such cases to abandon the trial.

The senate was to meet in special session November 10 for the trial.

Acceptance of the resignation was announced at the White House after a conference between the president and Representative Michener, republican, Michigan, and Representative Summers, democrat, Texas, two of the managers appointed by the house to prosecute English before the senate.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. —Advt

Forget Them Awhile
Troubles are like infants; they only grow bigger by nursing.—The Outlook.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for only 75 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. —Advt.

PRESIDENT ACCEPTS JUDGE'S RESIGNATION

FEDERAL JUDGE GEORGE W. ENGLISH OF EASTERN ILLINOIS, RESIGNS

LATTER WAS SCHEDULED TO FACE IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS IN SENATE

Washington, Nov. 4. — (UP) — President Coolidge today accepted the resignation of Federal Judge George W. English of eastern Illinois, district of Illinois, who was scheduled to face impeachment proceedings in the senate next week. The resignation of English may halt his scheduled trial in the senate.

Although he could still be legally haled before the senate to face the impeachment charges, it has been customary in the past when the defendant official resigned in such cases to abandon the trial.

The senate was to meet in special session November 10 for the trial.

Acceptance of the resignation was announced at the White House after a conference between the president and Representative Michener, republican, Michigan, and Representative Summers, democrat, Texas, two of the managers appointed by the house to prosecute English before the senate.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts if Your Back Hurts, or Bladder is Troubling You

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious and costly kidney complications. —Advt.

How She Gained 10 Lbs. in 22 Days

That's going some—but skinny men, women and children just can't help putting on good, healthy flesh when they take McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

As chock full of vitamins as the nasty, fish-tasting cod liver oil itself but these sugar-coated, tasteless tablets are as easy to take as candy, and won't upset the stomach.

One woman gained ten pounds in twenty-two days. 60 tablets, 60 cents. Ask H. P. Dunn, C. D. Johnson, Economy Drug Co. or any druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and if you don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

Forget Them Awhile

Troubles are like infants; they only grow bigger by nursing.—The Outlook.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for only 75 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. —Advt.
